

Self-Updatable Websites

In addition to our standard design and development services, OnYourMark provides several self-updatable website options. We can provide you with tools such as image rotators, scrolling marquees, and event calendars that allow you to enter your own content so that you can control what gets displayed on your site and when. A small sampling of our self-updatable widgets and tools include:

- Image Rotators - rotate through images you upload and specify
- MetaCalendars - a comprehensive events calendar
- Career Opportunities Tool - post job openings on your site and receive applications through email
- Scrolling Marquees - scroll text and images up, down, left or right on your pages

If there is a self-updatable tool that we do not currently offer we can develop it!

A more advanced self-updatable tool is our own Deluxe News & Resources. This product lets you create individual web pages, post news articles, notes, images, documents for download, and more! You can organize your postings in categories and even use this tool to build your entire site around! The entire system is self-updatable and very easy to use.

And for those ambitious clients who wish to maintain their entire sites themselves, we can provide you with a fully functioning content management system (CMS) which allows you to modify every piece of content and information that gets displayed on your site. Open source programs like WordPress and Drupal can be designed and configured to your desire, or we can program a complete custom solution to meet your company's needs.

From small site widgets to complex content management systems, OnYourMark can provide your business with the tools necessary for you to succeed!
